REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

To the parents and citizens of the town of Sullivan:

In compliance with the law of the state, your school board submits its annual report of the condition and work that has been done the past year for your consideration. While our schools have not attained that high standard which all lovers of education might desire, we think, on the whole, they have made commendable progress in their studies, and in point of discipline have taken a decided step in advance; certainly in some of the schools we have never seen better. We believe, as a general thing, our teachers have been faithful to the trust committed to them, and have labored conscientiously for the best interests of those placed under their care. To gain the best results from our schools, there must be a united effort on the part of teacher, scholars, parents, and all concerned, and parents ought to be very careful what ideas their children may form from them in relation to the teacher and the school; for if the parent so wills it, the best teacher may fail of doing good work and a successful school, while on the other hand, with a poorer teacher it is quite possible to have a very good school. Your committee does not and will not believe any parent, stopping to give it a second thought, will, by word or action, countenance disobedience or disrespect to the wholesome rules of the teacher, for it is said, order is heaven's first law. Therefore, let us not only approve of, but insist, that our children obey all reasonable requirements of the school. Another thing which is very detrimental to the success of a school, is irregular attendance. If we wish our children to receive the largest benefit from attending school, let us use all possible means to have them there every day, and at the commencement of every session, for it will not only teach them to be punctual, but will guard against the loss of a lesson. For instance: a class in arithmetic of eight scholars, two of them absent at recitation. There may some principle come up and the teacher explains it to the understanding of those present. The next recitation may be something somewhat different, but embracing the very same principle of the lesson before. Now, those absent scholars must either lose the explanation, or the rest of the class lose the time taken to explain to the two who were absent.

We find by the registers less tardy marks and absences than the preceding year, and we hope there will be greater improvement the coming year.

In conclusion, let us, one and all, make a strong and united effort and put forth our best energies to raise the standard of our schools higher than ever before, and not rest until they reach the goal perfection.

There has been two terms in each of the five divisions the past year. In No. 1, 17 weeks, in No. 2, 20 weeks, in No. 3, 21 weeks, in No. 4, 22 weeks, in No. 5, 21 weeks, aggregating 101 weeks. Number of scholars in town as reported by the selectmen April 1, 1894, was 89; boys, 43, girls, 46. Number of pupils enrolled, 93; boys, 45, girls, 48. Number of children between 5 and 15, not attending school 7.

School No. 1, East Sullivan, was taught by Miss

Rosella E. Andrews, the entire year, a faithful and conscientious teacher, the discipline in this school was of a high order and like clock work. Miss Andrews was a kind and pleasant teacher, patient and anxious to teach her scholars. She introduced some exercises which your committee think were an advantage to the school. Miss Andrews was obliged to leave the school before the close of the fall term on account of her health. Your committee have reason to believe if she had been able to complete the year we should have received good results from her labors. Whole number of pupils during the year, 36; average daily attendance, 31; instances of tardiness, 7; number of visits by committee, 8; by parents and others, 70.

School No. 2. The spring term was taught by Miss Charlotte D. King. The school appeared well at the examination. We consider Miss King more than an average teacher, and we know of no general dissatisfaction. The fall term was taught by Miss Flora B. Tenney. Her methods of instruction were very good. The school appeared well when visited, but at the examination there seemed to be a lack of order and the good feeling between scholar and teacher which is necessary to the success of a school. Whole number of pupils during the year, 16; average daily attendance, 12; instances of tardiness, 4; number of visits by committee, 9; by others, 56.

School No. 3 was taught both terms by Miss Sarah M. Lane. This was Miss Lane's third year in this school. This was the banner school of the town, due not only to the excellent teacher, but also to the parents, for their support and encouragement; to the scholars, for their earnest desire to acquire an education, there not being an instance of tardiness through the whole year which speaks well for the teacher, parents and scholars, some having nearly three miles to travel to get to school. The school board hope that we may have more of Miss Lane's work in the school room. Whole number of pupils during the year, 18; average daily attendance, 14; number of visits by committee, 7; by others, 53.

School No. 4. The spring term was taught by Miss Ethel A. Barrett, one of our Sullivan teachers; this was Miss Barrett's second year in this school; we consider her one of our most successful teachers, maintaining good order, thorough in her instruction. We engaged Miss Barrett for the fall term, but after teaching a short time was obliged to give up the school on account of illness. Mrs. Alice D. Woodbury finished the term as a substitute, a teacher of large experience. Mrs. Woodbury's methods of instruction were somewhat different from what the scholars were used to. At first some thought they were not learning as fast as they ought to; at the examination the school appeared well, showing that their time had been well spent; there appeared to be kind and pleasant feeling between teacher and scholars. Whole number of pupils during the year, 18; average daily attendance, 15; instances of tardiness, 36; number of visits by committee, 8; by others, 43.

School No. 5, was taught the entire year by Miss Lizzie L. Jewett, another of Sullivan teachers; this school was very small there being but five scholars enrolled; the scholars made good progress in their studies. Miss Jewett is capable of teaching a much larger school; your committee think it would be for the advantage of the scholars in division No. 5 and also for the town to consolidate it with No. 2. Whole number of pupils during the year, 5 ; average daily attendance, 5 ; instances of tardiness, 12 ; number of visits by committees, 8 ; by others, 51.
